

Self-Breathing Plastic Nose Replaces 'Iron Lung' For Polio Victims

ST. LOUIS—A new plastic nose that does your breathing for you was shown to the American Medical Association last week.

This new plastic "iron lung" is a small gadget, making an artificial iron lung as small as a mouth. It is used to breathe for a patient who cannot breathe on his own, or who has a weak respiratory system, or who is carrying a doctor's bag.

The value of this new plastic nose is that it allows a patient to breathe on his own, and then release for a few minutes. The doctor can set it for

U.S. Farmers Urged To Produce More Milk, Poultry

WASHINGTON—The U.S. government has urged farmers to produce more milk, poultry and hogs in 1954.

But it suggested smaller acreages for wheat and rice than was planted this year.

The recommendations were contained in a list of production goals put out by the agriculture department. The suggestions are for each year for the next five years.

The Royal had two managers this year. Left: W. A. Dryden, taking it easy while recovering from an illness, and W. F. Watson, acting general manager of the show.

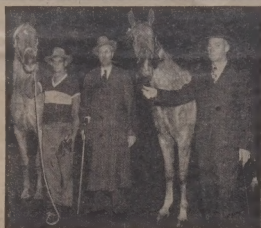

Right: Paragon Kitty, Belgian mare, bred and shown by Robert Thomas of Granders, Saskatoon, was senior and grand champion for the second time at the Royal.

PICTURES on this page are a few of the many splendid animals that were exhibited at the Royal Agricultural Winter Fair held at Toronto. The quality was superb and the uniformly remarkable, and almost no "tail enders". The Western provinces again shared in honors of receiving champion awards. Robert Thomas of Granders, Sask., won senior and Grand Champion for the second time with Paragon Kitty, Belgian mare. Starlight Konkarnes, Percheron mare, shown by Hardy Saller of Calgary won her twentieth Grand Championship at Class A shows. In Champion of Havelock section Ed. Head of Olds, Alta., had the Reserve Grand Champion steer. The Reserve Grand Champion Palomino mare went to Golden Princess owned by Miss Gloria Klavir, Calgary, Alta. Many of our western agricultural men were selected to judge the various exhibits.
